

Indoor Cat Boredom Fix — Action Checklist

PRINT THIS PAGE AND KEEP IT SOMEWHERE VISIBLE

FOOD PUZZLE IMPLEMENTATION

- ☐ Food Puzzle Implementation: Replace your cat's bowl with a food puzzle to restore the hunting sequence of stalk, chase, pounce, catch, kill, and eat that domestic cats are missing.
- ☐ Food Puzzle Implementation: Choose a puzzle feeder that matches your cat's experience level, starting with simple treat-dispensing toys like the Catit Senses 2.0 for skeptical cats.
- ☐ Food Puzzle Implementation: Introduce the food puzzle gradually by placing it next to the regular bowl for the first three days without requiring your cat to use it.
- ☐ Food Puzzle Implementation: Progressively shift meals from the bowl to the puzzle over two to three weeks until the puzzle becomes your cat's primary food source.

VERTICAL TERRITORY SETUP

- ☐ Vertical Territory Setup: Install cat shelves, a window perch, or a stable cat tree to double your cat's usable territory from an elevated perspective and reduce stress markers.
- ☐ Vertical Territory Setup: Place vertical spaces at heights your cat already uses and position them near windows where bird watching provides bonus mental stimulation.
- ☐ Vertical Territory Setup: Ensure any cat tree has a solid, stable base so your cat feels safe and will actually use the elevated space instead of avoiding it.
- ☐ Vertical Territory Setup: Add at least one elevated resting spot to give your cat secure territory that makes it feel calmer and less need for destructive behavior.

PLAY PROTOCOL AND ENVIRONMENT ROTATION

- ☐ Play Protocol and Environment Rotation: Schedule a 15-minute interactive play session using a wand toy with erratic prey-like movements before the evening meal every day.

- ☐ Play Protocol and Environment Rotation: End every play session with feeding to complete the natural hunt-eat-sleep cycle your cat's instincts require for proper satisfaction.

 - ☐ Play Protocol and Environment Rotation: Rotate toys, rearrange furniture slightly, and introduce new textures weekly to prevent environmental stagnation that leads to boredom.

 - ☐ Play Protocol and Environment Rotation: Maintain consistent enrichment implementation for at least two weeks before evaluating effectiveness since most owners report noticeable behavior changes within that timeframe.
